McDaniels defeated Collins in played for title.

CHICAGO, March 8.—David McDaniels, of the Chicago Athletic Association, tonight won the national amateur 182 pound billiard championship by defeating Percy Collins of the Illinois Athletic Club by 300 to 109 in sixteen innings.

McDaniels' triumph over Collins tonight more than made up for an opposite result this afternoon. With the title going to McDaniels in the event of victory, and to a another chance for Collins in the event of his success, the match between them this afternoon was a tense and nerve racking affair. McDaniels was not to lose when Collins rose to the occasion and defeated McDaniels by 300 to 264 and jumped into a tie with McDaniels for the laurels, necessitating another tilt to-night.

Corwin Huston, the title holder, was adjudged to be a sure winner, this opinion being based on his fine performance of a year ago. But Huston felt badly in his play and his four victories were devoid of anything like championship form.

McDaniels, who was in fine fettle, took advantage of Collins' nervousness and rushed to the lead. He looked like a sure winner, and even after Collins had vanquished Huston on Friday it was not deemed probable that Collins could bring McDaniels down to his level to-day.

Collins played with his usual consistency this afternoon, as his average of 21.25 serves to prove. His collapse under adverse conditions, coupled with accuracy and good judgment, stamps him as a player of great promise.
